

English for Engineering

Finding a course

- » Go to www.ieee.org/ieeexplore
- » Log in (not all subscription options include access to IEEE Xplore Courses)
- » Under the Browse menu, choose Courses
- » Select the English for Engineering category

Taking a course

- » Click on the course of interest—topics include Reading, Writing, Listening, and Speaking
- » Sign in to your personal IEEE account to get credit—you can create an account here if you do not already have one

Getting certification

- » Take the quiz at the end of the course to earn CEUs and PDHs
- » After passing the quiz, click Get Course Certificate below the video to request certification and credits

English for Engineering

Course content

- » More than 45 hours of training content
- » Four categories to develop English mastery: Reading, Listening, Writing, and Speaking
- » Introductory, Intermediate, and Advanced levels

The screenshot shows two course listings. The top one is for the 'Advanced' level, featuring a book with glasses on it. The bottom one is for the 'Intermediate' level, featuring a person listening. Both listings include the course title, a brief description, and a table with CEUs (0.3), PDHs (3), and 3 Hours.

Course features

- » Relevant topics across the spectrum of technical professionals
- » Perfect for self-study or group training
- » Engaging interactive exercises
- » Immediate feedback to reinforce lessons
- » Flexible design to allow progress through skills in any order, and any skill level

The screenshot shows the course interface for 'IEEE English for Engineering: Reading Intermediate Level'. It includes a navigation menu on the left with an 'INDEX' section listing various exercises. The main content area displays 'Reading Skills: Intermediate' and a 'Register for Continuing Education Units' section with a video player showing a person at a computer.

Promote your achievement

Printable certificates, available upon the successful completion of each course, help learners share their achievements

